Hindsight is 2020

By Randy Cogburn

2021 is brand new today. It is a time for reflecting on a year that was deemed by some at this time last year as being the year of ‘perfect vision.’ We had high hopes that it would be a perfect year, one that we looked forward to, rather than looking forward to looking back on it. Either way, as my friend Isabel says: “It is what it is,” or in this case: “It was what it was”.

Despite it’s challenges, 2020 taught us the strength of community, how quickly our world can change, and how easily we can take for granted the importance of a hug. As a country, the challenge has been more than just the pandemic. It has meant clinging to what unites us, and working to overcome what divides us.

At the end of the day, our community has been fortunate to have weathered the storm as well as we have. It has been due, in no small part to the combined effort of everyone who lives and works here; each one doing their part. We are strong, and we need each other now more than ever.

How much difference will the lessons we learned in 2020 make in the years to come? After all, hindsight is 2020, right? Or is it?

I look forward to 2021 and the relief that it will bring, and I wish you all a happy and healthy New Year!

Snow Days!

Paula & Malcolm got a great picture of a cardinal visiting.

Do you want to build a snowman?
Jim & Dottie made sure their snowman was complete with a mask.

Kimgrace found a snow heart!

Chelsea's dog had fun during a friendly snowball fight. Looks like good times were had and many snowballs were consumed.

Decorating a Gingerbread House

Residents enjoy covering a cardboard “gingerbread” house with frosting.

Holiday Cookies

Residents and staff enjoy decorating holiday cookies together.

Zooming at Zarrow Pointe

Discussion group led by Ray Bachelor. Residents may join in the discussion via Zoom or in person (occupancy restrictions permitting).
